Publisher's Notes

By Timothy J. Pade • pade@desertgolfer.com

Our cover of this edition features Alice Cooper, a shock-rock star that is considered by many a national treasure. Those who have been touched by Cooper's generosity know him to be an amazing philanthropist as well as an avid golfer. Growing up with a father who was a preacher, Cooper learned early in life about the positive effects of giving and sharing. He has single handedly raised hundreds of thousands of dollars for his own organization, Solid Rock Foundation, based in Phoenix, Ariz. He also continues to help many other charities raise money by donating time or funds. Please find our feature on this amazing personality on pg. 12.

The heat is on! Our April/May issue signals the warmest weather is here to stay, and our temperatures will continue to escalate through October. Most Canadians, mid-westerners and east coasters are beginning the trek back to their main residences or summer homes; but for those who are staying in the desert region, this issue is packed with information on ways to enjoy the quieter summer months.

We begin with what has traditionally been referred to as the "silly season" in the golf industry. The PGA Tour, Champions Tour and LPGA Tour events are all headed east, and on the West Coast it's a great time for many of the charity tournaments that raise serious money for important causes.

Among the events highlighted in this issue is the George Lopez tournament in May, which the comedian says is one "way of giving back." The star's eponymous Lopez Foundation was established to create positive, permanent change for underprivileged children and adults confronting challenges in education and health, and to increase community awareness about kidney disease, organ donation and the military. Find out more about this worthy effort on pg. 16.

As always, we also cover the latest fashions trends (pg. 58) and our automotive expert reviews the ultra luxurious BMW 760Li on pg. 54. You may want to take one for a quick spin to see for yourself what the critics are raving about.

This month's travel feature takes us to La Paz, Mexico (pg. 50), and the Desert Golf Magazine dining guide give you plenty of options for new and favorite restaurants in the Coachella Valley (pg. 44). If you're searching for just the right gift for that special someone, take a look at our jewelry guide on pg. 60, featuring must-have baubles from local Palm Desert jeweler Leeds & Son.

We sincerely hope you enjoy this edition of Desert Golf Magazine and thank you all for your continued support.

Alice Cooper's

2012 Rock and Roll Golf Classic

Cooper's annual tournament was created to help disadvantaged Phoenix teenagers discover and expand their artistic talents, while preparing for a meaningful and positive future

To millions of fans throughout the world, Alice Cooper is the most beloved heavy-metal artist of all time. To his fellow artists, he is regarded as a shock-rock pioneer who used concert stagecraft and showmanship to capture audiences in a manner that no other artist before him had done. And to up and coming stars, he is perceived as a major influence within the industry.

“Phoenix’s disadvantaged youth were looking for a sanctuary in which they could meet and support each other, discover and nurture their hidden talents and receive hope for the future,” says Cooper.

He knew he would need some assistance from others to transform his vision into reality, primarily through their charitable donations. To obtain such contributions, he focused on one of his greatest passions, the game of golf, which he has played since the late 1970s.

The first Alice Cooper Rock and Roll Golf Classic 18-hole tournament was held in 1997 at the Arizona Biltmore Country Club in Phoenix. When the event raised nearly $100,000, the decision to host another Classic the following year was easy. The tournament has continued to grow in popularity.

Sheryl Cooper and Alice

But away from the spotlight, Cooper, who has released Billboard Hot 100 top-ten singles such as “School’s Out” and “Poison,” is in many ways like anyone else. He is a husband, a father and a businessman. He is an avid golfer whose handicap has been as low as five. Yet, perhaps most significantly, his greatest life desire is to help others live healthier, more gratifying lives.

Seventeen years ago, Cooper, along with one of his best friends, Chuck Savale, had a vision to use his worldwide fame for a worthy cause: to develop an organization centered on faith and devoted to at-risk and underprivileged youth within the greater Phoenix area, where he has lived since he was a high-school freshman.

The organization, known as the Solid Rock Foundation, was originally created to raise money for other youth-based charities and establishments. But as time progressed, Cooper realized that teenagers needed a place where they could escape the violence and drug culture of the streets.

Las Sendas Golf Club

The Rock at 32nd Street

Celebrity participants have included Cheech Marin, Dennis Hopper and Meat Loaf.

On April 23, the 15th annual Classic will be held at Phoenix's Las Sendas Golf Club for the very first time. The course, designed by Robert Trent Jones Jr., is set in the Utery Mountains overlooking the Phoenix skyline. As he developed it, Jones anticipated that the course would test all aspects of every golfer's game, from driving to putting. With its narrow fairways, slick greens and 144 slope rating, it offers a challenge to everyone, which is exactly why Cooper cherishes it.

"A representative from Las Sendas called and asked if the course could host this year's Classic," says Cooper. "I'm a longtime member at Las Sendas and I play there once a week, so it was a perfect fit."

This year's event will include a VIP pre-tournament reception on Sunday, April 22, hosted by Ganem Jewelers of Scottsdale. The following day, each of the tournament's 144 participants will tee off in the early afternoon, following a fabulous lunch at the Las Sendas clubhouse.

When play wraps up, participants will attend an awards dinner at the club's Bogey's Restaurant and participate in silent and live auctions to win golf equipment as well as Alice Cooper memorabilia. In addition, Cooper has invited Julianne Forte, a singer and songwriter from Phoenix, to the after-party.

If previous Classics, which have collected $100,000 on average, are any indication, then this year's tournament should raise substantial funds for the sanctuary that Cooper and Savale envisioned years ago, which will open this spring.

Through collaboration with Phoenix-based Genesis Church, Solid Rock's The Rock at 32nd Street Community and Teen Center is nearly complete. The center will minister to at-risk teens interested in music, dance and other artistic endeavors, leading them away from the streets and to a facility that offers them a safe place to express their artistic creativity.

"Quite simply, it's all about the teens and Solid Rock's mission has always been to make a difference and help them change their lives," Cooper says. "We will continue to fulfill this goal for years to come."

Did You Know?

Throughout the 1960s, Cooper developed friendships with all four members of the Beatles and, even though the band broke up in 1970, he remained good friends with the entire lineup as they pursued their solo careers. In fact, John Lennon and Ringo Starr were members of the infamous Hollywood Vampires drinking club, of which Cooper was president.

Cooper was also friends with all four members of Kiss, and even helped the band design costumes and develop marketing initiatives.

When Cooper lived in Hollywood, his best friend was legendary comedian Groucho Marx. After Groucho passed away in 1977, Cooper helped to restore the renowned Hollywood sign by buying the sign's first "O" for $27,000 and dedicating it to Marx.

During the 1970s, Salvador Dali created a sculpture of Cooper's brain, which was then developed into one of the first 3-D holograms in the world. To this day, no one knows where the sculpture is located.

Cooper was also quite an athlete as a teenager. When he was 17, he held a statewide record in Arizona for a 24-mile run from Carefree to his alma mater, Cortez High School.

George Lopez is known for loads of laughs from his years of standup comedy, ABC-TV sitcom, late-night talk show, film roles and personal appearances. But in 2004 things weren't so funny when Lopez was diagnosed with a genetic condition that caused his kidneys to deteriorate to the point of near failure. Lopez's subsequent life-saving kidney transplant was also life-changing. The 5th annual George Lopez Celebrity Golf Classic on Monday, May 7, at Lakeside Golf Club in Toluca Lake, Calif., once again raises money for The Lopez Foundation to educate the public about kidney disease, as well as aid deserving youngsters, adults and military families.

"In 2005, George had a successful transplant, allowing him to pursue his two passions: playing golf and giving back to others less fortunate," says Lopez Foundation Executive Director Linda Small. "The Lopez Foundation was founded to improve the quality of life for children and adults, giving them the opportunity for a brighter future." Specifically, the foundation's mission is to create positive, permanent change for those confronting challenges in education and health, as well as increasing community awareness about kidney disease and organ donation.

The Burbank event features an entire day filled with activity, beginning with a continental breakfast, 18 holes with prizes and giveaways, and on-course lunch. An après-golf awards dinner includes cocktails, auction, buffet and entertainment galore. Teams of five play a two-man, modified best-ball format at the 18-hole course created in 1925. Full of Hollywood history, Lakeside Golf Club has attracted legends that include five-time club champion Bing Crosby, and the venue hosted the California Amateur Championship in 2008. This year's Lopez Classic also is a qualifier for the 2012 Mercedes-Benz Dealership Championships, and one foursome will advance to the Western Sectionals held Nov. 3-7 at Turtle Bay Resort in Oahu, Hawaii.

A slew of well-known stars of TV, film, sports and music fame are invited to participate in the celebrity tournament, including Eva Longoria, Samuel L. Jackson, Sugar Ray Leonard, Tim Allen, Mark Anthony, Hillary Duff, Ray Romano, Justin Timberlake, Chaka Khan, Billy Bush, Oscar De La Hoya, Amy Garcia, Slash, Don Cheadle, Joe Pesci and Cheech Marin. Small says low-scoring competitors traditionally include Cheadle and Jackson, and Kenny G. and Dennis Quaid were also among those atop the scoreboard in past Lopez Classics.

As host, Lopez can't win his own tournament, but he's able to give the other golfers a run for their money with a 10 handicap. "The entire event is about having fun," says Small. "Nonetheless, it's a very competitive game and everyone plays to win." She says celebrities as well as sponsors continue to return each year. "A really fun-packed day will make everyone return, but the love and support they have for George does not go unnoticed."

Among its projects, The Lopez Foundation raises funds to send 125 underprivileged children with kidney disease to camp for a week, and 25 deserving families to the Kidney Disease and Transplant Family Weekend at The Painted Turtle Camp in Lake Hughes, Calif. Lopez told cnn.com, "I have a summer camp, and it's amazing to see how children will respond when they're given the opportunity to just be regular kids. They get to run into kids who are also experiencing the same issues they have, whether it's dialysis or kidney disease. They talk about taking their medicine. They also realize that whether they are the only person sick in their family or their school, they are not alone."

Small says people may be aware of the foundation, but might not know of Lopez's continuing behind-the-scenes dedication to helping others on an individual basis. "Through the years, George has consistently reached out to the community of San Fernando, where he grew up. He's never forgotten where he comes from," she says. "For six years now, George has hosted an annual holiday toy giveaway, providing a gift to every child at San Fernando Elementary School, where he was recently honored by the school when it named its auditorium after him."

Lopez has received the Manny Mota Foundation Community Spirit Award, and was named honorary mayor of Los Angeles for his fundraising efforts to help earthquake victims in El Salvador and Guatemala. He has been honored with the Imagen Foundation's Vision Award, the California Latino Legislative Caucus' Latino Spirit Award and the National Hispanic Media Coalition Impact Award.

Dinner-only tickets are available at $125 each, or $1,000 for a table for 10. For more information about this year's tournament, contact Linda Small at the Lopez Foundation 818.954.3320, or lindas@georgelopez.com. To learn more about the foundation, go to thelopezfoundation.org

Charity Golf Tournaments

Charity events in the desert this spring—pick one and play to give back

By Matt McKay

What many refer to as “the season” is winding down on desert golf calendars. It will finish with an accompanying flourish of charitable tournaments that benefit worthwhile nonprofits—and, perhaps, the karma of players who participate in and support each one. We’ve found no fewer than four tournaments in our region worth your time, attention and donation.

Participants of last year's Jerry Colangelo Sports Legends Golf Classic

Over in Arizona, the 11th annual Jerry Colangelo Sports Legends Golf Classic will be conducted April 15-16 at the Arizona Biltmore Golf Club on the grounds of the Arizona Biltmore Hotel. The group that owns that course also recently purchased the Wigwam Resort in Litchfield Park, Ariz., and Colangelo is one of the group’s key partners. The circular connection to the tournament was already predetermined in that Colangelo, a member of several business and charity-related boards, was also diagnosed with prostate cancer in 2004.

He has, through proper treatment, remained an active and healthy member of said boards, but the disease’s impact on him was the primary catalyst for getting behind the tournament. Funds generated will be directed to the Drive for Prostate Health through POP, the Prostate On-Site

Project. POP currently consists of two mobile examination vehicles that travel throughout the state offering low-cost or free prostate screenings. The event itself will feature teams captained by Major League Baseball, National Basketball Association, National Football League and National Hockey League stars. For further information on both the cause and the event, visit prostatecheckup.org

The 11th annual Mike Pollom Memorial Charity Golf Tournament is scheduled for April 16 at Rancho Las Palmas in Rancho Mirage, Calif. This event provides scholarships to a selected group of Coachella Valley students with financial need, and operates through the Desert Community Foundation of Palm Desert. A committee consisting of teachers and counselors from Coachella Valley High School, as well as fund chairman Norm Pollom, chooses the scholarship recipients. Pollom, the longtime National Football League personnel director and scout, lost his son Norm at 48 years old to cancer. The younger Pollom was a New England scout. The scholarships established in Norm’s name help to provide those with a financial need the monetary support they need to pursue higher education, and a new recipient is added each year. The tournament is currently assisting with the advanced education of five Coachella Valley youth, with eight scholarship appointees having already graduated. The scholarship fund is 100-percent staffed by volunteers, and just under 100 percent of the funds raised go toward funding scholarships. Current scholars are attending Cal State-Riverside, Mount St. Mary’s, LaVerne and Azuza Pacific. The 2012 tournament honoree will be former Oakland Raiders’ head coach Tom Flores. For all tournament information, visit mikepollomsscholarship.org and son credit the Loma Linda facility with being the critical factor in Tim's survival and recuperation. Tim is now front-and-center in promoting the tournament, with an assist from his father. For sponsorship packages, individual sign-ups or further information on the event, contact Teri O'Rourke at tkorourke26@gmail.com or call 916.919.0345.

Last year's winning team, Sam Spen, Glenn Miller, Jim Houston and Vince Whitaker

Bladder cancer is the scourge motivating Ken Venturi and his son Tim as they build up to this year's Tim Venturi Third Annual Bladder Cancer Awareness Golf Tournament, scheduled for April 16 at the Classic Club in Palm Desert, Calif. The tournament again features a load of celebrity players, new cars on offer for holes-in-one, and there's a much-anticipated silent auction. The two-pronged fundraiser benefits the Loma Linda University School of Medicine Urology Fund and cancer research.

The Venturis dealt with the issue firsthand as Tim was diagnosed with the condition just over two years ago. A long, hard fight with the disease left him with a 20-percent chance of survival at one point during his recovery from having his affected bladder completely removed. However, the story has a happy ending as Tim has made a full recovery. Father

Drew Brees

The Drew Brees Celebrity Championship, May 17-20 at La Costa Resort and Spa in Carlsbad, Calif., will allow players to get a look at the recent golf course renovations at the property. This tournament benefits New Orleans Saints quarterback Drew Brees' foundation. The Brees Dream Foundation generated over $180,000 last year, benefitting organizations including Rady Children's Hospital in San Diego, the San Diego Armed Services YMCA, the Friends of Scott Foundation and the National Multiple Sclerosis Society-Pacific South Coast Chapter. The same organizations stand to benefit from this year's event.

Over 185 celebrities are already committed to the event, including current and past professional athletes and television, film and entertainment personalities. Among those competing with Brees are Stan Humphries, former host of the event, Donny Anderson, Dwight Clarke, Roy Greene, Stan Makita, Edwin Moses, John O'Hurley, Jan Stenerud, Billy Ray Smith, Emmitt Smith, Kevin Sorbo and past champions Tony Romo, Jack Wagner, Jack Marin, Mickey Tettleton and Rick Rhoden. For information on sponsorships or participation, visit celebritychampionship.com

Rich Little headliner this year at the awards dinner

Palm Valley Country Club in Palm Desert, Calif., will be the host site for the 2nd Annual Pete Carlson Charity Golf Tournament and Celebrity Awards Dinner on April 23. This year's dinner will feature headliners such as Major League Baseball Hall of Fame member Willie Mays, comedian Steve Rossi, singer Jimmie Rodgers and comedian/impressionist Rich Little. On the course, players will enjoy 18 holes at PVCC, on-course prizes and photos with Mays, followed by a silent auction. All proceeds benefit the Boys and Girls Clubs of the Coachella Valley through the Willie Mays Say Hey Foundation, and the dinner may be attended separately from the golf tournament. For more information, call 760.773.0290, email junep@kinercom.com or pick up an entry form at Pete Carlson's Golf & Tennis

There you have it, a season of support in only two months. Along with all the fun and prizes and rubbing elbows with celebrities, there's the feeling that you're helping others. And that's a feeling you can't get from any amount of eagles or birdies.

Two of the Best at Tradition Golf Club

By Clive Clark

Our expert dissects two of the La Quinta club's most challenging holes

View from the 18th Tee

Clive Clark

This month Desert Golf Magazine welcomes noted golf course architect Clive Clark, who will look at some of the best golf courses in the desert, and share his insights on two of the most interesting or controversial holes on those courses. A resident of La Quinta, Calif., Clark starts this must-read series with Tradition Golf Club, a course he is very familiar with.

Flash back 14 years. One of my best friends from England phoned to say he was planning to spend winters in the Palm Springs area, specifically in La Quinta. "I hear there are some new golf courses over there and I'd like to join one. Which do you recommend?" he asked.

I told him Tradition Golf Club had just opened. I had a friend who was already a member, and Tradition was gaining a reputation as an excellent new facility. Three weeks later we had finished our round and my friend, Tony Biggins, was enjoying his favorite drink, a Bloody Mary, ceremoniously served to him on a silver salver, complete with cut glass and appropriate condiments.

Refreshed, he asked, "What do you think of Tradition?"

I replied, "Tony, if you look at every aspect of what we've seen today, from the civility at the entry gate, the clubhouse, the service and the friendliness of the members to the beautiful Arnold Palmer designed golf course that is in exceptional condition, however you break it down it's nothing less than 10 out of 10!!"

The 17th Members' Tee

"Great," Tony said, "I'm going to join, but I'm not joining without you!"

I only went to play a round of golf with my buddy, but by the end of the day I'd bought a lot and a membership—frankly, one of the best things I ever did!

Tradition is an exceptional club from every point of view. Once inside the gates, you are almost isolated from the imperfect world outside with a sense of tranquility, understated elegance and charm. Arnold Palmer has a home here and resides at the club for part of the winter season. My wife, Linda, and I have enjoyed 14 wonderful years as members of Tradition and we look forward to many more.

This creative Palmer course has many exceptional holes. Superintendent Ty Broadhead has an intense passion for keeping all of them in superb condition, which makes selecting just two holes a difficult task. That said I have chosen Nos. 17 and 18.

No. 17, which plays 330 yards from the members' tee, is one of the most scenically beautiful holes in the Coachella Valley. The tees stand a dominant 200 feet or so up a steep, narrow, rock-laden gorge. Once you're up there and looking down at the fairway far below, it gives you the impression that you're on a large jet coming in on the glide path. The towering side of the mountain, with an array of cascading boulders and rocks, is on the right. A white-water stream tumbles through a rocky crevasse all the way to the lake at the bottom, which abounds the left side of the fairway.

View of 18th green from the 100-yard position short of the lake

It pays to know this hole. Depth perception from this enormous height is difficult to grasp. Young 'flat bellies' could easily be tempted to go for the green. For the very long hitter, this is a definite possibility. The problem is that a whack at the green is often caused by severe over-confidence.

First, there is only a 20-yard gap at the landing area between the bunkers, the lake and the rock. And if you get the slightest hint of sidespin on your tee shot, it is greatly accentuated by the height and nothing but trouble waits! I have seen players pull off this feat; however, more frequently the ball ends up in the rocks, the hallmark white sand (leaving a bunker shot of difficult length) or in the watery grave.

Tradition Clubhouse from the 18th fairway

That is why experience (and old age) teaches one to leave the driver in the bag. With a utility club from the tee, the landing area is at least twice as wide and you take out a number of unsavory possibilities, leaving yourself with a wedge or short iron to the green. With a bit of luck, you will keep a big number off your scorecard and from time to time a birdie will appear.

The 18th hole is 505 yards from the members' tee and the view that from lofty elevation is spectacular. The backdrop is framed by the Santa Rosa Mountains and this par 5 is the epitome of a fun risk-and-reward finish. Down below, two fairways await, split by an array of white, sandy bunkers. Naturally, the shortest line to the hole—the right fairway—is also the narrowest. And for the long hitter, the second shot on this line is played over a beautiful but menacing lake to a long, narrow green with a tricky angle of approach.

The better line for most is down the left. Dependent on your skill level, hitting a fairway wood or a lay-up iron and keeping well left of the lake is the best choice. For the more spirited player who has some length, the hole can be reached in two, but with the water lingering just off the right edge of the green, it demands a shot of courage and accuracy.

Take a look at the photos to get a clear picture of this exciting par 5. However you look at it, it's one of the very best finishing holes anywhere.

Pine Canyon Club

Flagstaff's Pine Canyon Club offers affordable rates, family-friendly activities, picturesque views and memories to last a lifetime.

Signature 18th Hole

In some ways, it is hard to believe that Pine Canyon Club in Flagstaff, Ariz., has only been opened since 2004. Within the last eight years, more than 240 condominiums, cabins, townhouses and homes have been built across the private golf community's 600 acres. Thousands of guests have traveled worldwide to experience firsthand the prestigious amenities. And countless nationally recognized publications, resorts, enabling a comfortable golfing experience all year long. And with five housing alternatives to choose from, including Deer Creek cabins, Creekside Village homes, custom residences, Elk Pass townhomes, and Mountain Vista condominiums, prospective homeowners have plenty of options.

"Each of the club's residences is affordable, as prices have been adjusted according to the current market," says

Warren Smith, president of Pine Canyon Club. "Listings are lower now than they ever have been and purchasers are taking notice as sales have been increasing. But residences are still being built, so there is rarely a short supply."

A majority of residents choose to purchase a golf membership, which allows them to play Morrish's par-72 layout. Featuring five sets of tees and ranging from 4,933 to 7,272 yards, the course is well including Golf Digest and Golfweek, have acknowledged the club's 18-hole, Jay Morrish design as one of Arizona's most pristine golf courses.

There is little wonder why so many golfers and nongolfers alike have purchased homes and memberships at the community. It all starts with the setting. Pine Canyon lies against the foothills of the San Francisco Peak range, overlooking tranquil Coconino National Forest. Surrounded by lakes and streams, the club's prime location two hours from Phoenix and Scottsdale is ideal for residents interested in visiting some of the nation's most popular desert cities.

In addition, since the club is 7,000 feet above sea level, its average temperatures are generally 25 degrees lower than most other Arizona golf communities and regarded for its perfectly manicured bent-grass greens and blue-grass fairways.

"I often hear from our members and guests that our greens are the finest they have ever played," says Andy Ford, Pine Canyon's director of golf. "Our course is providing a wide range of entertainment opportunities for residents' children, arts and crafts activities, video games, pools and a water slide among them.

"Children are also welcomed to exercise on hiking and biking trails, learn experience Pine Canyon Spa's pampering treatments, such as facials, deep-tissue massages and manicures. If they are also hoping to burn some calories, they can enroll in yoga or Pilates classes, use free weights or attend personal-training sessions at the fully equipped fitness center.

"Pine Canyon was designed to provide everyone with an opportunity to relax and currently in better condition than any other mountain course in the United States."

While Pine Canyon's slick greens, woodlands and water hazards will test golfers of all skill levels, the course has been designed so that all golfers, even beginners, can compete while also appreciating the area's impeccable scenery.

Yet not every resident needs to be an avid golfer in order to enjoy a memorable vacation at Pine Canyon. In fact, many residents choose to purchase the club's sports membership, which enables them to participate in singles and doubles tennis matches and network with other members at various social events, including pool parties, Memorial Day functions and Independence Day festivities.

If residents are not golfing or playing tennis, they may be found in the 35,000-square-foot clubhouse, which has received a Golden Nugget Award for its magnificent interior design. Within the clubhouse, residents can savor scrumptious chef specialties at a mixed-grill restaurant, sip martinis at a cocktail lounge or relish some of the wine room's 1,700 bottles of international wines.

At the same time, Pine Canyon is well known for its family-friendly atmosphere,

While their children are busily exploring the camp or park, parents can enjoy themselves, even if they do not play golf," Smith says. "This is a comfortable, peaceful club where families can create memories that will last for a lifetime."

Merchandise Show

Plenty of exciting new equipment was on display at this year's show

Back in the day, equipment manufacturers waited until the PGA Merchandise Show to unveil new equipment. Then the manufacturers started releasing their new equipment at any time. In recent years, however, the PGA Merchandise Show has regained its importance as a launch platform.

Held each year in Orlando, Fla., toward the end of January, the PGA Merchandise Show (known in the industry as The Show) is the annual gathering of the international golf industry. Manufacturers from around the world travel to Orlando to display their equipment. PGA golf professionals and buyers are also there in force to make buying decisions for the upcoming year. Approximately 45,000 people attend the show.

DRIVERS

The show starts in the open air at the driving range at Orange County National where attendees can try out the latest equipment in 'real time.' Drivers are always extremely important to the equipment companies as they typically provide the highest margins. Callaway was on the range with its RAZR Fit ($400), the first Callaway driver that provides full adjustability using weights and a rotating hosel; there are also sole weights. Callaway is a little late to the adjustability party but it's an impressive driver.

Cleveland Golf hasn't been a big player in the driver market but the company is trying to change that with the intriguing Cleveland Classic ($300) featuring a gorgeous persimmon-style retro look. But the driver is packed with technology including an ultra-light shaft to increase club head speed. And the club has a deep face—another retro touch.

If you're a constant 'tweaker' then the ultimate in adjustable drivers might be the TaylorMade R11 ($400), which provides 80 weight, loft and hosel combinations; this club will help the golfer who is looking for the perfect driver ball flight. If you're a better player and the adjustable drivers provide a bit too much technology, the Ping i20 ($400) is a good choice. The center of gravity is low and away from the face and the club has a neutral setup. Good players typically prefer a good-looking club and the i20 is one of the best looking Ping clubs in recent years.

FAIRWAY CLUBS AND HYBRIDS

The Yonex Ezone SD fairway wood ($200) is another attractive club and provides plenty of technology. The club should be easy to hit off a tight lie with the help of a sole construction reducing the area that contacts the ground by 30 percent. To help increase distance, the shaft boasts microscopic strands of titanium alloy.

Hybrids are pretty much essential equipment in the modern golf bag, and there's a ton of new technology in this market segment. The Adams Idea a12 ($170) has a respectable price point and provides plenty of forgiveness; the club launches the ball higher than previous models and with less spin. Well known for its excellent drivers and fairway woods, Tour Edge is bombing the hybrid market with its Exotics XCG-5 ($200). The club has a tungsten-steel body and sole to provide a higher launch; the unique face construction reduces spin and increases ball speed for added distance.

IRONS

While it may have won the award for 'ugliest golf club' at the show, the looks of the TaylorMade RocketBallz ($700) can be excused as the clubs provide superior performance—especially for the weekend golfer. The technology features a large but extremely thin face that helps to maximize spring-like effect. For the golfer looking for a traditional look through traditional 'pure' blade, the glorious Titleist MB irons ($140 per iron) provide advanced shot control with minimal offset; the irons also have an attractive new satin finish. For the golfer looking for maximum forgiveness plus a 'contemporary' amped-up look, look no further than the Cobra AMP ($700). There's plenty of weight at the heel and toe and Cobra designed the sole to help it glide over the turf—a useful feature for golfers who tend to hit the ball a hair fat from time to time.

Cleveland wedges have been made from cast-iron steel so the release of a Cleveland forged wedge is a major event. The new Cleveland 588 Forged Satin wedges ($140) are to-die-for and provide a wide range of loft and lie options; these new wedges also include laser-milled microgrooves and have been aligned for slightly lower ball flight. Good players used to let their wedges get rusty to improve spin, but you can get a 'pre rusted' wedge with the Cobra Trusty Rusty Black PVD wedge ($120). The club's higher bounce angle in the center of the sole makes the club easy in the sand yet versatile from the fairway and rough.

PUTTERS

There were plenty of putters on display in Orlando. The Guerin Rife Cayman Brac ($150) is a simple and elegant design that includes grooves on the face to limit skidding. The putter also provides a soft feel. Another putter with a traditional look but plenty of technology is the Odyssey Metal-X #8 ($150), which has a textured face with oval dimples to create faster forward roll.

It's been a rough few years for the golf industry. But manufacturers are optimistic about 2012—based on the staggering display of superb golf equipment on display.

Mirror, Mirror

A simple mirror—no high-tech accessories necessary—can help you fix what's ailing your swing

I understand that not everyone has the availability to video their swing or take a lesson from a teacher who uses video; however, that should not stop you from improving your golf swing. Most swing flaws can be identified, understood and fixed using a mirror—if you know what to look for and how to correct it.

Find a mirror in your house, buy a swing mirror for the golf course (golfaroundtheworld.com) or simply use your reflection in a sliding glass door—all of these things can help you see and feel your golf swing, and thus make it effective in the way you want it to be.

The key to this method is visual choreography—slow motion swings flowing into a static position. In the photos above, I am working on the part of the swing when my arms are at the top. Using a mirror helps me to “see” what I am feeling at the top. And when I begin to “feel” something different at the top, I will be better able to reproduce this motion during a real swing.

In traditional use of video, all too often this “new” feeling is lost or overlooked by students for a period of time because in this forum they typically watch and audit the flight of the ball and the feeling of the new fundamental second. This is backwards!

I have found that helping people to see their swing via a mirror, without hitting balls, is the best way for them to get the feeling of their swing, and to adjust it to achieve what they want it to achieve. This may seem foreign to you, but I promise you that you can play better by “letting mechanics produce and feel reproduce.” (Homer Kelly, The Golfing Machine)

Once you can make slow motion swings to the top and stop in the correct position, only then is it time to hit balls on a tee—but very slowly. I suggest you make a full swing at 1/4 speed to start. Once you can feel the same thing while hitting real golf shots, proceed up to full speed. If you cannot, then go back to your mirror work as explained above. If you can't make the correct motion in partial speed, how do you expect to do so at full speed?

Remember the proprioceptors within your muscles do not know the difference between you hitting balls or doing mirror work. All they know is the more they are stimulated in a certain direction, the more often they will gravitate toward that action and feeling. This is the basic of motor learning. So the goal when you are practicing is to make a high number of correct repetitions. I have found over time with my students that a mirror is the tool to help them learn through “self-discovery” swinging to the top over and over again.

SaddleBrooke Ranch

The Allure of Contemporary Adult-Communities

By Jenell Fontes

Looking a lot like Four-Star resorts, these communities have plenty of appeal

SaddleBrooke Ranch

Every single day for the next 18 or so years, more than 10,000 baby boomers will reach the age of 65. Millions of them are rushing toward retirement age, and many are looking to downsize and move to a more pleasant climate.

The words “retirement community” used to conjure up images of a drab place where residents were dependent on walkers and playing cards was about the only activity. But today’s senior communities are a far cry from that. Many resemble Four-Star resorts and include such amenities as restaurants headed by starred chefs, concierge service, dog walking, dance lessons and car washing—and often these amenities are included in the HOA fees. Many of these communities also cater to golfers, offering amazing courses and perks for both members and guests. Here are three that should pique your interest if you’re considering a community for active older adults.

SaddleBrooke Ranch – Oracle, Arizona

Located about 30 miles from Tucson, SaddleBrooke Ranch is one of the newest developments from Robson Communities. Robson is the company behind well-known PebbleBrook Creek, a 2,400-acre, amenity-filled active-adult community near Phoenix. SaddleBrooke Ranch offers an 18-hole golf course and a full-service spa. The community ratcheted up the sophistication factor when it added La Hacienda Club, which houses the spa as well as a pool, billiards room and tennis courts. Though age-restricted to those 55 and older, SaddleBrooke Ranch is a very active community and residents are likely to bike, hike, swim and play tennis in addition to golf.

There are 12 different home designs ranging in size from about 1,500 square feet to 2,500 square feet and ranging in price from about $200,000 to $500,000 or more. Annual HOA fees run

SaddleBrooke Ranch

$1,500 per year. The community consists of only about 100 homes today, but the master plan allows for as many as 5,000 when everything is complete.

Saddlebrooke’s golf course provides challenge and excitement for players of all abilities. The course, with five tee options per hole, is a good test for the low handicapper but also challenges high handicappers without discouraging them. There are mountain views from nearly every direction over desert terrain enhanced by natural washes and over 250 desert trees planted throughout the golf corridor. Many options are presented for thoughtful play on the generously wide fairways. Advanced golfers looking for a serious challenge will find that on the back nine.

Sun City – Palm Desert, California

Visitors driving into the gates of this community are welcomed by gorgeous greens, lush landscaping and water features. The Sun City property is 1,600 acres and includes three large recreation centers, numerous indoor and outdoor swimming pools, two fitness centers, lighted tennis courts and both paddleball and bocce courts, among others. The complex offers two 18-hole golf courses, including one designed by hall-of-famer Billy Casper and Greg Nash. Other amenities include a billiard room, library, theater, ballroom, dog parks, an indoor walking track and so much more. Anglers will appreciate the fishing pier while golfers can fine-tune their putting on a putting course. The community even has its own post office. All amenities are on-property and accessible via golf cart, and most are included in the HOA fee.

Homebuyers can choose from 44 different floor plans that range from 1,000 to 4,000 square feet and from $175,000 to $700,000. At current values, a 2,000-square-foot two-bedroom home with a den and two baths but no golf course view and built in 1998 will appraise at about $275,000 to $350,000 depending on upgrades and location. Homeowner's fees of this club start at around $200, depending on the size of your home, making them among the lowest in the Coachella Valley. Sun City is definitely a best-kept secret for homeowner value.

The semiprivate Mountain Vista Golf Club at Del Webb's Sun City has two 18-hole courses, the Santa Rosa and the San Jacinto, and the facilities have everything a member could ask for: 18-hole putting green, driving range, PGA golf pro, cart and club rentals and snack facilities. The layouts are intended for recreational players though they're challenging enough for good golfers. Set against the backdrop of the Santa Rosa, San Jacinto and San Geronio mountain ranges, the courses offer views that are truly spectacular. Closer in, the scenic courses feature cascading waterfalls and wide, rolling fairways trimmed with colorful flowers and palm trees. Water is in play on nine holes and there are many grass bunkers. The houses surrounding the course are mostly above the sight line and are landscaped with mature trees and shrubs.

Summit Ridge – Genoa, Nevada

Summit Ridge at Genoa Lakes Golf Resort features eight architecturally distinctive home designs near the South Lake Tahoe and Carson City areas, along the California-Nevada border in the Sierra. Options include four fabulous single-story designs, three two-level plans with the master suite on the main floor, and one spacious, family-friendly two-story home.

The Desert Golf Magazine Guide to the Best Dining in the Coachella Valley

The Valley dining scene is anything but "same old"

As the Coachella Valley turns the seasonal calendar away from winter, a flurry of desert dining activity segues to spring, a time of newness and growth. Fittingly, there's a lot that's new on the Valley's restaurant landscape.

In Palm Springs, the long-awaited debut of Workshop Kitchen & Bar, featuring a sustainable, seasonal menu and creative cocktailing, appears set for April in the burgeoning Uptown district. Already welcoming new diners within the colorful environs of The Saguaro Hotel on Palm sprawling, 10,000 square-foot space. The east side of the Valley also recently welcomed Hamilton's Sports Bar & Grill, a father-son operation fast gaining a desert following for games and wings.

Whether your dining tastes favor the new or traditional, consider these Valley favorites:

Augusta Restaurant

Located in the heart of El Paseo, Augusta presents a multi-tiered experience to match its lofty interior design. The private dining loft is perfect for Canyon Drive is Tinto, a wine bar and restaurant serving Iron Chef Jose Garces' Basque creations. Also making a 2012 debut in the heart of downtown Palm Springs was Starview Restaurant, offering a classic menu meshed with outdoor seating and a choice bar selection. Though mid-Valley mourned the loss of GG's Island in Rancho Mirage due to a massive fire, the desert's ever-present momentum was propelled by two new dining options in Palm Desert. In January, Richie's Real American Diner (see below) opened in the Westfield Mall, and Kabobz Mediterranean Restaurant announced plans to add a second location at Washington Street and Country Club Drive.

In La Quinta, the aptly named Burgers & Beer is set to open a fifth location (second in the desert) at Highway 111 and Jefferson. The eatery's vast selection of more than 30 burger options and ample brews is slated for an April debut in a the intimate couple or the focused lunch meet. Equally appealing are the outdoor gardens and excellent mountain views. For dinner, start with the Oysters Augustas and then move on to the Roasted Maple Leaf Duck or Dover Sole Veronique. The bar menu is served nightly from Monday through Saturday, and the Sunday Champagne Brunch is among the most impressive in the area. (73951 El Paseo, Palm Desert; 760.779.9200)

Chef George's

If you can't find this desert gem upon first glance, fear not—you won't be the first. But that's part of Chef George's charm. Void of signage and tucked deep into the crevices of a Bermuda Dunes strip mall, the restaurant combines owner George Ristich's Eastern European flavors and the appealing gregariousness of his hostess (and wife) Lana. Together, they create one of the desert's most exceptional dining experiences. These doors only open for the Cajun Salad a la Raymond. Hungarian fare is the specialty of the house, so if it's goulash you desire, look no further. Pair your entrée with a glass or bottle from the stellar wine list and be certain to go with the apple strudel for dessert. Portions are sizable, so the salad may not be the only dish you share. The scent of barbeque wafts you into one of the Coachella Valley's largest and most impressive dining spaces. Set on nearly seven acres of property, the guest segues from the handsome leather and wood interiors to a sprawling outdoor patio that will undoubtedly awe the first-time visitor. The green space, waterfalls and enticing fire pit help to make this the finest patio on the east end of the Valley. The staff is well trained for events, family diners or the couple who seeks privacy beneath the summer stars or moveable heaters on a winter night. The happy hour menu is also among the most popular in the area, available 3– 6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday and from 3 p.m. to close every Monday. (80400 Highway 111, Indio; 760.342.1999)

Jake's Palm Springs

Jake's Palm Springs

If you seek a can't-miss weekend brunch, or a weekday lunch or dinner option in the center of desert activity, head to Jake's. The popular American bistro with a California accent combines casually stylish environs with affordable pricing and fresh ingredients to produce one of the desert's most consistently stellar menus. "Among the most popular brunch dishes is the Croque Benedict, which is a croque sandwich with ham and cheese, dipped in egg, sautéed and dipped in Hollandaise; it's kind of a twist on eggs Benedict," says Jake's co-owner Christopher Malm. "We use only sushi-grade ahi for our seared Ahi Tuna Salad and Seared Ahi Tuna Wrap. The Miami Vice Salad has become a classic here—chopped romaine with feta cheese, capers and fresh shrimp tossed in key-lime caper vinaigrette. And the Eggs in Purgatory is also really popular."

To unwind after work or share your post-round war stories, Malm suggests grabbing a table for the outdoor happy hour, Tuesday through Saturday from 5 – 7p.m. "The drinks are all half-priced; we have cocktails for $3 along with beer and wines for $2, and our bar has also become really popular for dining—we actually take reservations just for the bar." Manhattan in the Desert

Manhattan in the Desert

Seeking an exceptional nosh? The flavors of a New York deli can be savored in Palm Springs. "I think the corned beef, pastrami and brisket are as good as you'll find anywhere – not just Southern California," says owner Jamie Pinto. "Our East Coast customers tell us it's as good as any they've had in New York." Open daily at 7:00 a.m. and serving breakfast, lunch and dinner, Manhattan has become a local and visitor favorite. "It starts with great ingredients and really good, qualified people preparing our meals and doing so with consistency," Pinto says. "I think we're able to execute a very large menu very well."

Breads and baked goods all are prepared onsite, and there's always a crowd around the bakery display case. "There's nothing like it," Pinto says of the bakery. "We use the absolute best ingredients. We pay more for that, but as far as I'm concerned it doesn't matter. We make raspberry arugula and the raspberry comes in from France. That's why when people taste it, they're blown away by it. The chocolate we use is the best you can buy." (2665 E. Palm Canyon Drive, Palm Springs; 760.322.3354)

Piero's Pizza Vino

As Vince Vaughn said of pizza in Wedding Crashers: "It's good no matter what." But pizza isn't always great. For one of the Valley's freshest and most impressive pies, there's Piero's. The wood oven is more than just a showpiece in one of Palm Desert's newest hot spots. It reaches temperatures nearing 900 degrees to bake an authentic Neapolitan pizza within two minutes. Piero's prepares its own dough and mozzarella daily, and imports San Marzano tomatoes from Italy to give the pizza a slightly sweet edge. Open daily for lunch and dinner, the menu also includes ample wine and beer choices along with a host of salads, sandwiches and a selection of Italian specialties. Richie's Real American Diner

Richie's Real American Diner

Dining in Palm Desert just got an injection of country flavor. In January, Richie's opened its fourth California location, taking over the space formerly inhabited by Marie Callender's in the Westfield Mall. The experienced restaurateurs of Richie's offer diner favorites that span the menu from breakfast through dinner daily, but this is more than cakes and shakes. Richie's features premium steaks and sets itself apart with a mesquite wood smoker that flavors signature BBQ items such as Baby Back Ribs, St. Louis Style Ribs and Triple BBQ Combo. Open daily 7am - 10pm Sunday - Thursday and 10:30pm Friday & Saturday. (72840 Highway 111, Suite 398, Palm Desert; 760.773.2677)

The spring season is the ideal time to enjoy all the Coachella Valley has to offer. The masses begin to slowly disperse, presenting fewer waits for top eateries, and measured temps translate to comfortable dining indoors or out on the area's most favored patio spaces.

CostaBaja Resort and Spa

Resort community delivers on every level

CostaBaja Resort & Spa is a master-planned community minutes from downtown La Paz, capital of Baja California Sur, in Mexico. As the name suggests, La Paz (peace) offers a serene setting on the Sea of Cortez.

Located on 550 acres of environmentally protected land, CostaBaja includes a hotel, spa, 18-hole Gary Player Signature golf course, 250-slip state-of-the-art marina capable of accommodating any size vessel and enough shops and restaurants that you never have to leave the area if you don't want to.

As for lodging, the options are equally expansive. In addition to the 115-room hotel, there are townhomes and penthouse residences, with purchasing choices ranging from fractional to full ownership. You can also buy an existing home or choose the perfect lot on which to build your dream vacation home.

CostaBaja fits spectacularly into its setting. The community is the architectural genius of SB Architects, which designed 250 residences and provided site planning for the development. Among its impressive features is a self-contained water treatment facility that purifies water for the entire community. This pristine project helps to maintain an eco-friendly environment for the vegetation, wildlife, visitors and residents.

At the core of the development is a commitment to protect and reflect the environment. The design philosophy was based on the natural character of the site as well as the architectural and cultural heritage of Baja California, says Scott Lee, president of SB Architects. "Combining contemporary architectural forms with rustic materials that are true to the nature of the site, we were able to create a design statement entirely unique to this particular place and forge a strong connection to this geographically isolated land known as el otro (the other) Mexico.”

Materials used on the clubhouse property include hand-selected travertine and a very specific cut of stone. The structure was sited to maximize views and to work with the natural slope, similar to the way a simple mountain ranch fits into its environment.

The clubhouse complements its stunning desert-by-the-sea landscape while ensuring the preservation of the surrounding fragile ecosystem.

Deliberate thought went into every aspect of the clubhouse design. According to Lee, “The entry courtyard is a particularly relevant example of the Baja California influence. The arrival sequence is an illustration of the structure as a simple but dramatic series of portals through which to experience expansive views. The journey from the entry through the structure’s thick-walled interior and out to expansive views on the rear patio illustrates how an intimately scaled structure can have an impact far larger than its small footprint.”

The clubhouse provides ample locker rooms for men and women, a well-stocked pro shop, a sales office for the private lots and a bar and dining area that offers amazing views, great food and plasma televisions so guests can keep current on local and national sports events and news if they choose to.

The Troon-managed course is equally amazing, offering challenge for every level of golfer. Tee-box locations on some holes provide vertical drops of up to a hundred feet and unobstructed views miles away to the evocative La Paz shoreline.

In addition to an enjoyable golf facility and world-class marina, the community also excels with international cuisine—and choices to suit any palate. La Barcaccia offers authentic Italian fare with local fresh seafood; that said, the lasagna is incredible and not to be missed! Azul Marino also offers seafood and thin-crust pizza along with daily specials, while the Odayaka, a sushi bar and restaurant, serves up fresh ahi, yellowtail and delicious crab rolls, fresh eel and more. All of these facilities have an excellent selection of wine, cocktails and, of course, margaritas, and they’re popular not just with resort guests but also with the local foodies from La Paz. In addition to the restaurants, there’s a local market with food and other items you might need for your townhome or boat trip. The truth is, CostaBaja is a self-contained destination. Once you’re there, you can simply unwind, relax and enjoy all that it offers.

Not surprising, humans are not the only creatures drawn to CostaBaja. This ecologically rich area is home to incredible sea life—sea lions, whales and numerous rare birds. And, of course, Baja offers some of the best fishing in the world.

CostaBaja Resort community is an ideal example of what other projects worldwide should aspire to when building a world-class community. Every aspect has been considered for the preservation of the environment, respect of local culture and the wellbeing and enjoyment of those who come for the rewarding lifestyle it offers.

BMW

Launches the Flagship

If you're looking for automotive aha moments, this is your car

No one will argue that BMW deserves its place amid the top automakers in the world, but is it THE top designer? That question will ruffle the turtlenecks of many a Mercedes and Audi owner, but one drive in the BMW 760Li and they may be questioning their loyalties.

In the ultra plush world of luxury sedans, there are four kings: BMW, Jaguar, Mercedes and Audi. The 760Li seems poised to launch a hostile takeover of the class. Bejeweled with technology, power and cachet, the 760Li is nothing short of extraordinary. The 2012 body redesign emphasizes its long heritage while distinguishing it from the ho-hum crowd of the other six-figure magnates.

In 2012, the body design team at BMW decided to make a few adjustments. A sporty side panel seems to shorten the long hood line when viewed from the side. Recessed door handles and ample chrome give the 760Li enough modernity to feel comfortable at a tech start-up or the good ole' boys club. The classic kidney-shaped grill is unchanged and the strong posture is BMW all the way.

The power center is brand BMW to the core. The 6.0-liter V-12 is a beast disguised in Italian leather and haute couture accessories. While you aren't likely to take the 760Li down to your local drag strip or race for pink slips on a Friday night, you certainly would have all the street cred you need if you caught the crazy bug. The 760Li claims a 0-60 time of 4.5 seconds. Think Porsche Boxter and you have the image of the power produced by the twin turbos. Given the size of the 760Li, you must feel the torque to believe it.

The eight-speed transmission is a ride on cloud nine. Smooth and whisper quiet, you'll wonder if you're going 30 or 130. Of course, BMW gives you options to adjust the suspension dampers and shift RPMs in order to get more performance out of the transmission. In sport mode you kick luxury to the curb and invite the Mr. Hyde side of the 760 to give a show. Quite a show it is, gripping curves and growling through the gears. The tight ride isn't for everyone, but it might be a good way to blow off some steam after a tough day at the office.

The conundrum you'll find yourself in when buying any of the many 7 series is choosing. In the 7 series family, there are: a six cylinder, two V-8s, a V-8 hybrid and a V-12. All come with rear-wheel drive standard, but you may choose an all-wheel drive option in nearly any model combination. If you want a little extra legroom you can choose the L version, which has a 5.5-inch stretch converted into additional space in the rear seats.

Getting inside is like swimming in a pond of goose down. Comfort excels. Every surface is smooth and detailed with precision. At this level that isn't enough. The gadgets are extremely intuitive compared to other models in its class, giving the sense that a team at headquarters had one job: think through everything.

That list of “everything” includes 12 GB of storage for music on the internal hard drive. Front and rear massaging seats which, in the front, are adjustable 20 ways. The control panel is placed so that you still have line of sight on the road while you change the temperature controls. Night vision detects objects in the road and alerts you if they are in danger of being struck. Everything is impressive.

The best seat in the 760 house is in the back. Massaging seats, twin screens for the entertainment center, individually adjustable climate control and electronically controlled shades put riders in their own ecosystem. Throw in extra legroom from the L-option and you have a place to spend real quality time. No one will fight to get shotgun in this baby.

The navigation system goes a step beyond the norm as well. BMW partnered with Google so that while you sit at the office planning your next multi-destination trip, you can send locations to your vehicle. The 760Li lets you save destinations from your Google maps to your car’s computer. You can upload contacts to your car’s directory rather than have to type them in using the hunt and peck navigation interface.

The iDrive features in the BMW 760Li include an office feature that downloads texts and email to the in-car computer. The nice lady in the Finally auto technology is getting practical and BMW is leading the “aha” moments.

Ladies Move Over,
Men Are Fashionistas, Too!

By Françoise Rhodes

Golf is setting the style in women and men's clothing

The season of spring conjures up images of sundresses, colorful prints and beautiful women running through fields of flowers. Spring for golfers means breaking out the new fashions to wear on and off the course and, yes, we tend to think of the gals.

Well ladies, don't be surprised if you are nudged out of the way in a race to the designer racks; men today are making a huge fashion statement, giving spring an entirely new look.

According to Chip Tolbert, fashion director of the Men's Fashion Association (yes, there is one), men who want to wear the hottest looks for 2012 should embrace golf-course style. "There's a tremendous interest in golf," Tolbert says. Clothing to be worn on and off the course includes knit polo shirts, cardigans and patterned slacks. This golf-inspired design in menswear has been orchestrated by none other than Ralph Lauren.

Gaining presence in the marketplace is the All That You Are (A.U.R.) line of golf wear. There are many things that set this line apart, and planet-friendly fabrics are number one. Yet ladies will probably be drawn to the lace detailing on the front of the polo, as well as the new cut at the hem. Just as the lace gives the polo precisely the right hint of "girly," the cut of the bottom keeps the look hip and sexy. Instead of the traditional straight-across-the-hips cut (very unflattering), these short-sleeve polos offer a shirttail cut, which is both slimming and comfortable.

CarboCool, S. Café and EcoSmart aren't a new line of automobiles. They're trademarked fabrics from A.U.R. that give back to the planet. CarboCool fabric contains a blend of polyester and bamboo charcoal. The benefits for the wearer include fast drying, anti-odor and UV protection. Carbonized bamboo is environmentally responsible and offers the same benefits that a

Tailored clothing, floral prints and new colors fit in this style and are the rage this spring for men. Gone are the red, orange and green iridescences. They've been replaced by iridescent berry and jewel tones. For the more conservative crowd, taupe, olive and other subtle greens will keep wearers fashion forward; however, the 'it' phrase in fashion this spring is "color blocking."

Color blocking is the pairing of bold and bright hues to create a dynamic look. For the ladies, pairings include plum with yellow and cobalt, or pink with orange and teal. As with the men, this season's fashions are meant to be worn on and off the golf course, whether to the clubhouse for lunch after a round or out to dinner with friends. Whatever the setting, versatility is key in this comfortable and stylish attire.

Jamie Saddock, Nike and Antigua are all taking colors to the extreme—and buttons are nowhere to be seen. Instead, zippers are all the rage. Zipper detailing is prevalent in men's shirts and on ladies' pockets, among other places. But the most popular use of zippers in women's golf clothing is on necklines, replacing the more common button closure. For both men and women, zipper necklines provide versatility and help golfers stay cool and comfortable for all 18 holes.

chemical finish does without harming the environment.

S. Café uses a patented process that transforms coffee grounds into yarn, which is then used to produce polos. EcoSmart is made from recycled polyester yarn, a plastic post-consumer product. It helps reduce fossil-fuel consumption and greenhouse gases when compared to regular polyester production. For more information about these earth-friendly products, visit aurgolf.com

And finally, nothing says golf course like rhinestones! Yes, spring means bling and rhinestones are popping up everywhere on women's apparel, and even a tiny bit on some men's clothing. Whether on hats, visors, gloves, tops or shoes, sparkling gems are a great way to draw attention away from the poor tee shot, duffed chip or missed putt.

Spring is here—enjoy the weather and the new styles!

And the Winner Is...

The jewelry worn on the red carpet appears in retail collections soon after

Any of this fine jewelry can be found at Leeds & Son on El Paseo in Palm Desert, CA.

It's that time of the year when we fling into spring with award shows and Fashion Week bling. While the exquisite jewelry and couture gowns worn on the red carpet and runways have long since been returned to the designers who created them, the new styles and trends they launched are here to stay—at least for a while.

When this season's award shows commenced, most women were still flashing big, bold and bulky statement rings and earrings. Sexy necklines without signature necklaces seemed to be the only change. As the SAG awards were handed out, we got a glimpse at the nouveau look favored by Hollywood elite: smaller drop earrings, dainty (if any) necklaces and rings set with diamonds rather than massive, brightly colored rocks.

But it was at the Oscars that 2012 seemed to finally settle on what's hot in jewelry this year.

Small is beautiful

The season's must-haves with any wardrobe are button and stud earrings, especially in a combination of yellow and white diamonds. If you're looking for yellow diamond accessories, visit Leeds & Son in Palm Desert, Calif., or simply go online to leedsandson.com and let the shopping begin.

Chandelier earrings are still hip but downsized, as evidenced by the more diminutive versions donned by many celebrities this season. Now out of style is the heavy, oversized lampshade look.

All that jazz

Definitely influencing the runway and red carpets was jewelry reminiscent of the Jazz Age. This style, with pieces featuring flower motifs and Art Deco-inspired designs, has come back to life with television shows such as Boardwalk Empire and the Oscar-winning film The Artist. It's popular in fine fashion and bridal jewelry lines.

Baubles for all of you

If you were watching the red carpet you saw another trend—hair jewelry, especially popular among the younger generation. Jeweled hair bands, tiaras and brooches pinned on a variety of hairstyles created a touch of whimsy.

Of course, not everyone wants to walk a red carpet or fashion-show runway. For this clientele there's yet another trend: moveable and interchangeable jewels. Ear charms, for example, are quickly becoming a must-have, part of a growing category of styles that offer multiple looks for the owners.

Pearls, pendants and pyrite

Pearls are returning to popularity, appearing in many of the latest fashion ads. Abundant, pretty and affordable, freshwater and mother-of-pearl jewelry is not just for granny anymore.

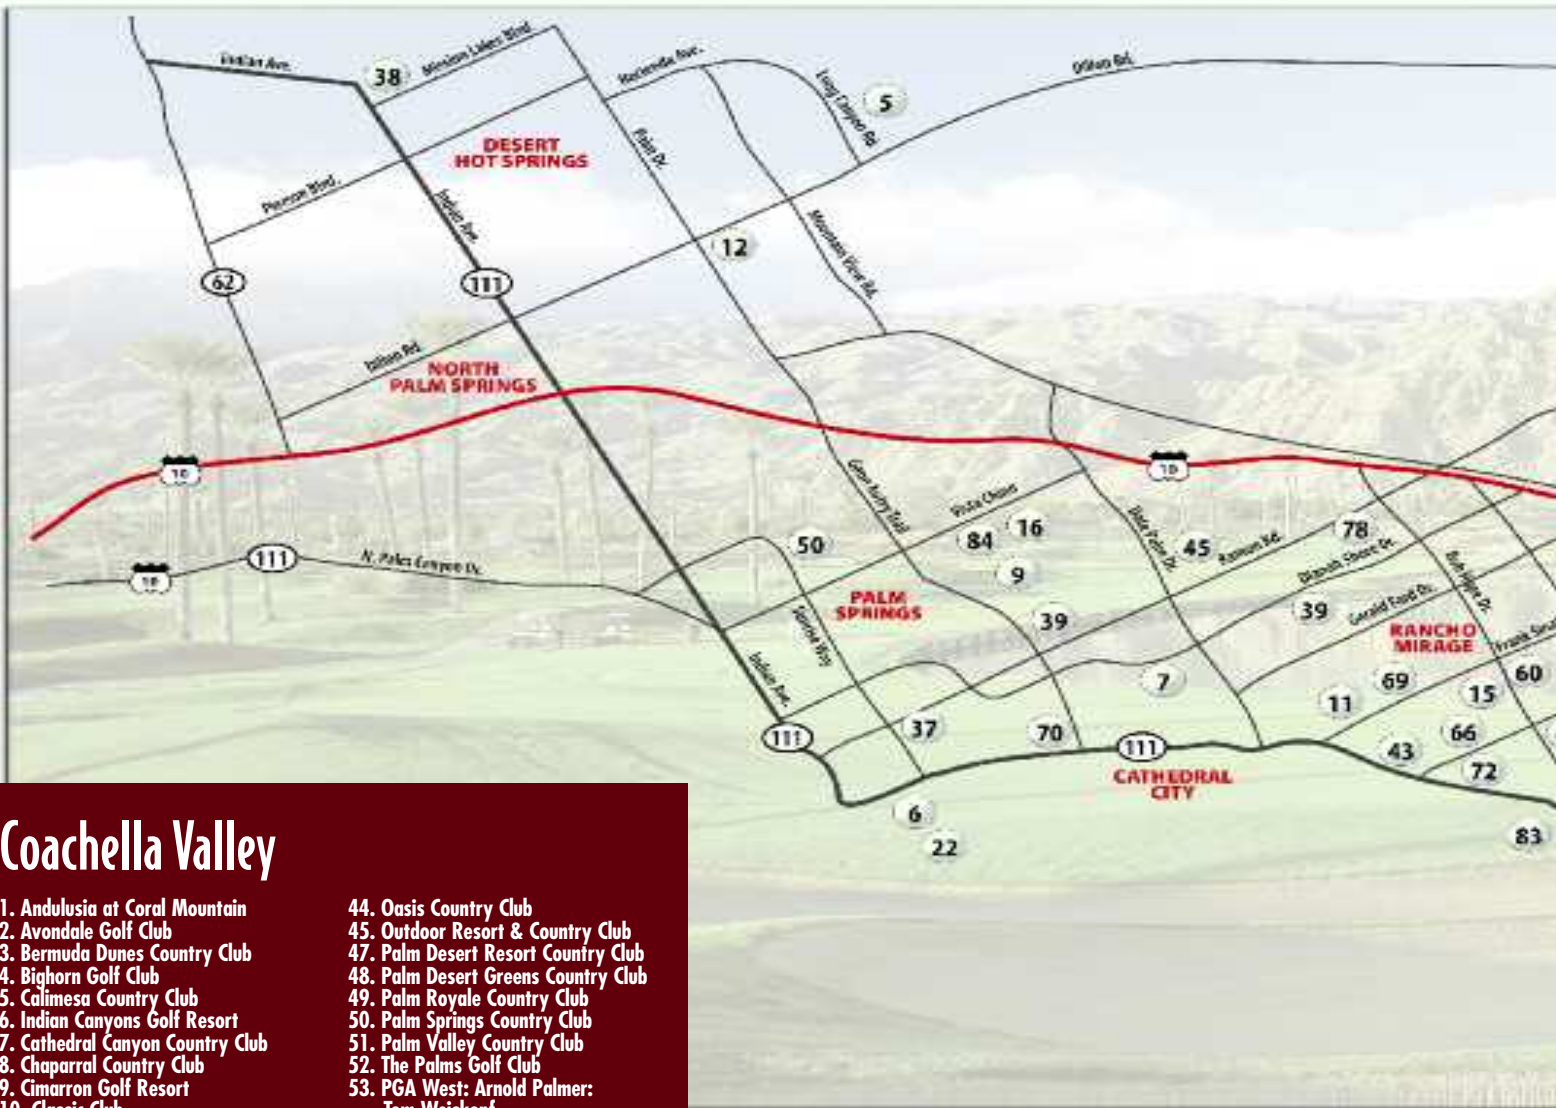

Adorning the neckline will never go completely out of style, though how it's adorned changes with the seasons. Back in for 2012 are pendant necklaces. Layerable and requiring no sizing, pendants can accessorize all kinds of dresses and create a range of looks—most notably, perhaps, it's the “foolproof” look for spring collections according to Style.com.

As spring will ultimately fly by, jewelers are already looking ahead and we're here to provide a sneak peek at what's in store. The star for fall appears to be pyrite, a mineral with a metallic luster and brass-yellow hue so often mistaken for gold it earned the name fool's gold. Fun, funky and inexpensive, pyrite is appearing in the collections of a number of indie jewelry designers. Look for pieces showcasing its smoky to gold color and lustrous allure.

Bright, sunny yellow is definitely in, and as surely as April showers bring May flowers, fashion trends will continue to come from the three Rs: red carpets, runways and real life!

LIVE FOR GREATNESS

EVERY ROLEX IS MADE FOR GREATNESS. THE COSMOGRAPH DAYTONA, INTRODUCED IN 1963, WAS DESIGNED TO MEET THE DEMANDS OF PROFESSIONAL RACECAR DRIVERS AND QUICKLY EARNED ITS ICONIC STATUS. WITH ITS PATENTED CHRONOGRAPH MECHANISM AND BEZEL WITH TACHOMETRIC SCALE, IT ALLOWS DRIVERS TO PERFECTLY MEASURE ELAPSED CIRCUIT TIME AND CALCULATE AVERAGE SPEED.
